DETAILED ACTION

This office action is a re-issue final office action to clarify the misunderstandings in your response to the previous office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC§ 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohno et al. (US 5,227,662) in view of Ishinaga (US 5,936,264).

With regard to claim 1, Ohno et al. disclose a composite lead frame and semiconductor device (col. 3, line 25 to col. 7, line 30 and fig. 7) comprising:

- A pair of electrode, having an inner portion 12 and an outer portion 10, where the inner portion residing in the same plane as the outer portion (fig. 7);
- A mold 38 encapsulating the chip 34 and the mold 38 encapsulating the inner portion of the electrode 12 and the outer portion 10 extending substantially laterally beyond the mold 38 (fig. 7);
- A step 28 formed in the inner portion 12 of the electrode inside the mold 38 and the step 28 having a height increasing from an outer side to an inner side of the mold 38 (fig. 7).

Ohno et al. disclose the step 28 is formed by the leadframe, which is formed by FeNi alloy (col. 4, lines 59-67);

- Ohno et al. do not disclose the IC chip is a light-emitting chip. However, it is common in the art to encapsulate a light-emitting chip with this method such as disclosed in Ishinaga (Ishinaga fig. 1). Therefore, it would have been obvious the IC chip in Ohno's device could be a light-emitting chip.

With regard to claim 2 and in according to claim 1 above, Ohno et al. disclose the electrode includes a Cu layer (col. 7, lines 5-6) and the step being formed by changing the thickness of the Cu layer (fig. 7).

With regard to claims 3-4 and in according to claim 2 above, Ohno et al. disclose an Au layer formed in an uppermost layer (col. 6, lines 41-43).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/24/04 have been fully considered:

- The applicant has submitted a Terminal Disclaimer on 7/30/03 to obviate the double patenting rejection over a US Patent No. 6,180,962.
- Applicant points out that the electrode in Glenn et al. is not in the same plane. However, Ohno et al. disclose an inner portion and an outer portion (formed immediately outside the encapsulation and prior to the bent portion) of the electrode 10 is residing on the same plane (fig. 7), which meets the claim limitation.

- Applicant argues that the reference numeral 28 in Ohno et al. is merely a lead wire, which does not qualify as a step. However, lead wire 28 is made of metal (col. 4, line 67) and is electrically connected to inner electrode 12 (fig. 7), which becomes a part of electrode 12. Lead wire 28 is a step higher than inner electrode 12 (fig. 7). This meets the limitation of claim 1.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
